

RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS TRACK VARIATIONS

by HAMISH DUNCAN

VERSION 1.7

2023

<https://rhcpsessions.com>

rhcpsessionsarchive@gmail.com

This guide is an attempt to outline each track variation in the Red Hot Chili Peppers' recorded catalogue. Put simply, this is every different "version" of each of their songs. Some are wildly different, containing extra verses or alternate guitar solos; some contain fairly negligible differences that aren't audible to the human ear. If you're after the most complete version of the band's discography, what's listed below will help you a great deal.

The format is as follows: [x] - Name of release - format - year - "variation"

Sources will be listed in the rough order of their release. Unreleased in-studio mixes will be listed before all else. Demos aren't given the same name as their respective albums (i.e. Demos For Third Album, not Uplift Mofo Party Plan demos) because the album name's didn't exist at the time of their recording. For example, in 1986 the band weren't recording demos for "The Uplift Mofo Party Plan", they were recorded demos for their third album.

For simplicity's sake, only the most readily available release will be displayed here unless there is something unique about the source. For example, Fortune Faded appeared as a single before its release on Greatest Hits, but the same version can be found on both releases, and only the latter can be easily heard today. If the single had a unique mix, that would be listed as well.

For the purposes of this guide, a CD and a CD-R are the same thing.

Not every different pressing of a vinyl record is a new mastering. Only new masterings are listed.

This guide will be continually updated as more information and further clarity arrives. There are most likely mistakes in this guide. Please get in touch if you notice any.

A very big thank you to Leandro Cabo, Max Elfimov, Hunter Gordon, 414 Geovanni, Dom Greenslade, Randy Mitchell and Manuel Etchart for their help.

10. Dum Chucka Willie

[a] Demos for First Album [1] - cassette - May 1983

Notes:

The first seven “regular” songs were released on Out In LA in 1994 and their respective remastered albums in 2003, with some edits done to the recordings (e.g. note the slight differences in speed, and the fade in of the backing track on Green Heaven).

A raw rip of the tape circulates (source [a] of each song), but it’s not clear when this first surfaced; some glitches are present in the rip.

[d] The Red Hot Chili Peppers remastered - CD - April 2003

[e] The Red Hot Chili Peppers - HD download - 2013

Notes:

2[b] is an extended mix, remixed by Steve Bando (possibly a pseudonym) and engineered by Rob Stevens. 4[b] is an extended club mix by Rob Stevens. They were both released on a promotional 12" ahead of the album. Curiously, True Men Don't Kill Coyotes was given a video but no single release, and Get Up And Jump vice versa.

In 2013, the band's first four albums were remastered and reissued in 24-bit for the HD download market. These are sourced from new transfers of the master tape.

17. Millionaires Against Hunger

[a] Freaky Styley Session Tape - cassette - 1985

[b] Unknown - ? - 1985 - "Unknown Version"

[c] Higher Ground - CD/vinyl - April 1989

[d] Freaky Styley remastered - CD - April 2003

18. "Stale Bastard"

[a] James Slovak Tape - unknown - unknown

19. Bone

[a] James Slovak Tape - unknown - unknown

Notes:

The Freaky Styley Session Tape tracks are sourced from an unmixed cassette that was made part way through the sessions. These tracks (not the complete album) lack vocals and horn overdubs, and are often longer than their album counterparts, such as Hollywood (Africa), The Brothers Cup and Yertle the Turtle, highlighting some editing work that was done during mixing.

4[a] and 4[b] seem to be: [a] an early instrumental version of the track, and [b], the same track but with George Clinton's guide vocals for Anthony.

The tracks listed as James Slovak Tape tracks circulate as a zip file, containing 16[b], 18[a] and 19[a] (as well as three Uplift Mofo demos and a What Is This demo). 16[b] is of a better quality than 16[a], so it will be considered a separate source here. They are apparently circulating thanks to James Slovak, and date from the time when he was selling Behind The Sun, his book tribute to Hillel, on his website. He has told this author that he has no idea what Stale Bastard is, but that's the name that's been assigned to it by many fans online, so we'll leave it that way. It appears to be a jam recorded during the album sessions. The Freaky Styley Session Tape may have also been provided by James, but that's unconfirmed for now.

Jungle Man had a 12" release in 1985, backed with Nevermind, Stranded (unique to this set in a different recording than their 1983 demo) and Hollywood (Africa), but aside from 2[b], they were all album versions. The "single edit" of Hollywood is a different mix, not just an edit.

3[c] does not fade out; every other mix of the track does.

17[b] leaked to the internet in 2014 and is extended and unmastered, but no further information is available. It appears to be from a high quality source.

In 2013, the band's first four albums were remastered and reissued in 24-bit for the HD download market. These are sourced from new transfers of the master tape.

SET IT STRAIGHT

Recorded: Prior to April 1986 at [unknown]

Produced by [unknown]

1. Set It Straight

[a] Tough Guys - Bluray - October 1986 / May 2017

Notes:

Set It Straight has not appeared in any form outside of the film Tough Guys, and the only version available has movie dialogue over the band's backing track. The highest quality version of the song appears on the Bluray, which was released in May 2017. Prior to that, it was released on VHS and DVD.

DEMOS FOR THIRD ALBUM [1]

Recorded April 1986 at Master Control, Los Angeles.

Produced by Keith Levene.

1. Backwoods

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

2. Me and My Friends (verse riff)

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

3. Me and My Friends

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

[b] The Uplift Mofo Party Plan remaster - CD - April 2003

4. Party On Your Pussy

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

5. Unknown #1

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

6. Unknown #2

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

7. Unknown #3

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

8. Unknown #4

[a] Demos for Third Album [1] - cassette - April 1986

9. Behind the Sun

[a] The Uplift Mofo Party Plan remaster - CD - April 2003

Notes:

2[a] is the band playing the riff that ended up becoming the verse to Me and My Friends; at the end of the song (only about a minute's worth) you can hear Keith Levene ask the band "what's that then?" Hillel replies "Who knows," and Flea says "That's it, that's all it is." So one can assume that at a point shortly thereafter, they combined it with 3[a], and it became the song we all know and love today.

It is not known why 9[a] does not appear alongside the rest of the other tracks, which leaked separately.

DEMOS FOR THIRD ALBUM [?]

Recorded: Late 1986 at [unknown]

Produced by [unknown]

1. Me And My Friends

[a] Demos For Third Album [?] - cassette - 1987

2. Party On Your Pussy

[a] Demos For Third Album [?] - cassette - 1987

3. Subterranean Homesick Blues

[a] Demos For Third Album [?] - cassette - 1987

Notes:

Virtually nothing is known about these tracks; where and when they were recorded, what else was done, who produced it... nothing.

DEMOS FOR THIRD ALBUM [3]

Recorded: February 1987 at EMI Studios, Los Angeles.

Produced by Michael Beinhorn.

1. Unknown #4

[a] Demos For Third Album [3] - cassette - 1987

2. Unknown #5

[a] Demos For Third Album [3] - cassette - 1987

3. Subterranean Homesick Blues

[a] Demos For Third Album [3] - cassette - 1987

4. Me and My Friends

[a] Demos For Third Album [3] - cassette/web - 1987

Notes:

Much like the above, basically nothing is known about these recordings, and they've never appeared anywhere outside this release. A different performance of Unknown #4 appears on Demos For Third Album [1].

4[a] was uploaded by Michael Beinhorn to his website for a short time in 2017, but has since been removed.

[h] Mother's Milk - HD download - 2013

Notes:

1[h] doesn't fade out, whereas every other version of the album mix does.

Behind the Sun had a 12" promo release in 1987, but it appears to simply be the album version.

13[a] lacks guitar and vocals, which were recorded separately and much later. The guitar on 13[b] was performed by Blackbyrd McKnight, who was only in the band a short time. Whether he recorded this track in a full-fledged studio is unknown.

14[a] is missing backing vocals and suffers serious tape glitches.

Me & My Friends and Subterranean Homesick Blues are missing from the Rough Instrumentals collection. It is unknown where that collection is sourced from.

In 2013, the band's first four albums were remastered and reissued in 24-bit for the HD download market. These are sourced from new transfers of the master tape.

TASTE THE PAIN

Recorded: Late 1988 at Track Record, Los Angeles.

Produced by Michael Beinhorn.

1. Taste the Pain

[a] Say Anything - CD/vinyl/cassette - April 1989

[b] Mother's Milk - CD/vinyl/cassette - August 1989

Notes:

1[a] is extended compared to the version that appears on Mother's Milk; it contains a longer breakdown, more reverb on the vocals, and solos from each band member, instead of just drums.

[a] Mother's Milk Session Tape - DAT - 1988/1989

[b] Mother's Milk remastered - CD - April 2003

Notes:

2[s] is different to the original 1989 album mix. Garth Richardson is credited for mixing on this version of the song, whereas Dave Jerden mixed the album version. As John has been famously dismissive of the sound of Mother's Milk (word has it the band were not consulted during mixing) it would not be surprising if he instigated that change when it was included on the Greatest Hits compilation. It may, however, be an earlier mix from 1989 that was simply used by mistake. 2[a] "Munchkin Mix" and 2[n] "12" Vocal Mix" are the same version, just different names. It was also released under the name "Daddy-O Mix". Furthermore, 2[f] and 2[m] are different edits of the same remix. 2[t] is a remix made in late 2006 that would play over speakers during a rollercoaster ride at Disney California Adventure Park.

6[e] and 10[e] were included as bonus tracks on the Mother's Milk reissue, but 8[d] simply replaced the original edited version in the album tracklisting.

In 2013, the band's first four albums were remastered and reissued in 24-bit for the HD download market. These are sourced from new transfers of the master tape.

SHOW ME YOUR SOUL

Recorded: late 1989 at [unknown]

Produced by Red Hot Chili Peppers and Norwood Fisher.

1. Show Me Your Soul

[a] Pretty Woman (Original Motion Picture Soundtrack) - CD/vinyl/cassette - February 1990

[b] What Hits?! - vinyl/CD/cassette - September 1992

Notes:

The version on the Pretty Woman soundtrack is identical to what was released on What Hits!?

One could argue that the What Hits!? version should be the “original”/standard version, as it is the only version available today, but Pretty Woman came first. For the sake of completeness we’ve listed both here.

[a] Blood Sugar Sex Magik (Deluxe Version) - streaming/download - 2006

Notes:

The Blood Sugar Sex Magik Session Tape tracks are sourced from a cassette made part-way through the recording sessions, and contain rough mixes of basically the entire album. Some songs are extended (4[a]) and some songs have slight mix differences (13[a]).

The Rock Band versions are multitrack stems that have subsequently been ripped, allowing fans to hear individual pieces of the songs. Furthermore, due to the nature of the game, some of the tracks come to their “natural” endings, though some of them (4[d]) have been edited to appear that way.

18[b] and [c] are two slightly different mixes.

Fela's Cock and Sikamikanico were released several different times between 1991 and 1994 but as far as we can tell there were no mix variations put out.

18. I Found Out

[a] Working Class Hero: A Tribute to John Lennon - CD/cassette/vinyl - 1995

Notes:

The Rough Instrumentals tracks are sourced from a cassette made part way through recording, and are unfinished rough mixes that contain pre-song noises and on some tracks, guide vocals (aside from Pea, which has its final vocals and overdubs intact). The handwritten tracklist that accompanied the cassette lists early versions of Walkabout and Deep Kick, but these are missing from the rip, or from the cassette entirely. Of note: these recordings (or at least the dubbing of this cassette) took place at the same studio as the First Demo Session, back in 1983.

The Unmastered/Unsequenced cassette contains many un-edited mixes, most notably on Falling Into Grace. One Hot Minute contains an extra verse. All songs come to their natural ending, with the exception of One Big Mob, which fades out rather harshly - before the Stretch part of the song can begin. That's a strange choice, as the album was intended to include One Big Mob and Stretch as a single song, or at least the two songs with a track marker cutting them apart; the change was made to remove the latter at the very last minute. Other pre-release tapes contained both songs present, so it's not clear why it fades out here.

Melancholy Mechanics appeared on the CD soundtrack for the motion picture Twister, but the same source as 17[b] was used. As a digital download of the soundtrack is now the only legal source to obtain the track, we've listed it here.

The 2012 vinyl release was remastered from the original tapes by Chris Bellman, and the 2015 HD download is also a different master to the existing release, but it's not clear who mastered it, and it's fairly indistinguishable from the existing retail version.

Warped

1[c] and 1[b] have slightly extended endings, where more of the background voices are audible; [b] is the album version, but [c] is a radio edit. 1[g] isn't a radio edit, has the extended ending, but doesn't seem to be from the same source as [b].

My Friends

4[e] is slightly longer than 4[c], with an extra guitar noise at the beginning. 4[d] has a slightly longer outro compared to its album counterpart.

One Big Mob/Stretch

15[b] has the One Big Mob ending attached to the beginning of it, as the two were originally recorded as one long song. 15[a] is a clean cut that starts exactly where Stretch begins.

Walkabout

8[c] is an edit (with a clean ending) exclusive to the Australian Shallow Be Thy Game single.

I Found Out

18[a] wasn't technically ever considered for release on One Hot Minute, but it was recording during the sessions — technically — at a portable studio in Hollywood. Perhaps a further update will separate the two.

It's unclear what, exactly, 1[g], 4[h] and 17[d] are. They are very low quality, but don't appear to be vinyl or cassette rips (they may be DAT rips). They may well be unmastered, or at least don't seem to contain any real digital limiting. They also contain the same slight extensions at the beginning and ends of the tracks also heard in 1[b], 1[c] and 4[e], such as that extra hit of guitar at the beginning of My Friends, but they're not from the same source as those tracks. If these slightly different mixes weren't available in higher quality elsewhere, they'd be a lot more interesting. Alas...

LOVE ROLLERCOASTER

Recorded: Summer 1996 at Sound City Studios and Ocean Way Studios, Los Angeles.

Produced by Sylvia Massy and Red Hot Chili Peppers

1. Love Rollercoaster

[a] Beavis And Butt-Head Do America - CD/vinyl/cassette - 1996

[b] Love Rollercoaster - CD - 1996 - "Clean Edit"

[c] Love Rollercoaster - CD - 1996 - "Rock Rollercoaster Mix"

Notes:

1[a] is the album version, also available on the CD, vinyl, and cassette single that was coupled with Lesbian Seagull by Englebert Humperdinck. 1[b] is just a radio edit, but 1[c] is a remix by David Donnelly and Gary Brandt and worth tracking down as it's fairly different.

According to Sylvia Massy, the song's co-producer, there were several more remixes done "for Latin markets", but they are yet to be released (and probably never will be).

ALBUM #7

Recorded April to December 1997 at [unknown]

Produced by Rick Rubin.

1. Circle of the Noose

[a] Circle of the Noose - cassette - 1998

Notes:

This track has only leaked over the internet and was never released officially. There is a chance that a looping version of the acoustic guitar introduction to the song used to auto-play on the official RHCP website back in 1998, but that file (and thus an official high quality version of the song) has been lost to time.

Notes:

Parallel Universe and an edited, shorter version of Jam 1 were released as b-sides on the Around the World single in 1999.

Several songs had names slightly different to their final album counterparts.

Notes:

The Rough Mixes version of the album (often referred to as "Unmastered") is sourced from an in-house CD-R made at the end of the mixing sessions, and sounds much better than the final retail CD. The Unmastered/Unsequenced version is similar, though it doesn't sound nearly as good as the Rough Mixes. In fact even though it is supposedly "unmastered", it sounds just like the retail CD, but contains a few unique mix differences. The exact placement in time that each of these CDs belongs to is hard to discern. They each have slightly different versions of tracks, but there is no logical progression from earliest to final. One must assume that there was many editing and mixing sessions between late 1998 and early 1999.

The Rock Band tracks being released resulted in multitrack stems being made available, much like they were for the Blood Sugar Sex Magik, Stadium Arcadium and I'm With You tracks.

Around The World

1[a] has 'ning nang nong' in each chorus instead of just the final chorus, and an extended outro. 1[b] has louder synth in the chorus and an extended outro. 1[e] is a remix done for a rollercoaster ride, with new contributions recorded by John and Flea in 2006.

Californication

6[a], 6[b], 6[c], 6[e] and 6[g] all have slightly different combinations of first chorus counts and keyboard appearances. There appears to be no definitive version of the track.

Easily

7[a] and 7[d] have extended vocals in the outro.

This Velvet Glove

11[b] has two run-throughs of the first chorus instead of one.

Savior

12[a] and 12[b] have an extra verse before the guitar solo and backing vocals in the outro that are missing in 12[c]. 12[d] has no extra verse, but extra backing vocals.

Right On Time

14[d] has extended backing vocals and no "on top" tape bleed at the beginning of the track as heard elsewhere.

Fat Dance

24[a] and [b] have alternate vocal mixes.

28. Rock and Roll

[a] By The Way Session CD-R - CD - 2001

Notes:

The By The Way Session tracks are sourced from a CD-R taken home by a member of the band from Cello Studios in November 2001. These tracks lack many of the final overdubs, and contain Anthony's (very rough) scratch vocals. One of the major mix differences is the bridge in 3[a], which was scrapped and redone during the mixing process. 26, 27 and 28[a] are only available from this source. For whatever reason, Cabron, On Mercury, and Warm Tape don't appear on the CD-R.

The Instrumentals only surfaced online in late 2017 and don't seem to have come from a CD source. They currently only circulate as Youtube playlists, so it's unsure when they were made.

2[c] and 7[c] are alternate mixes done by John for their single release, and differ from the album versions. 2[c] was also used on the Greatest Hits release in 2003.

2[e] is, inexplicably, an alternate mix to the album and single versions, with extra glockenspiel present, more reverb on Anthony's vocals, more prominent orchestration and a missing guitar line.

19[a] was re-recorded in 2003, see below. This version does not seem to have been finished during these sessions.

GREATEST HITS SESSIONS

Recorded: July to August 2003 at The Mansion, Los Angeles.

Produced by Rick Rubin.

4. Runaway

[a] Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R - CD - 2003 - “No solo”

[b] Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R - CD - 2003 - “No solo #2”

[c] Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R - CD - 2003 - “JF solo - cut”

[d] By The Way (Deluxe Version) - streaming/download - 2006

5. 50Fifty

[a] Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R - CD - 2003

6. Starlight

[a] Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R - CD - 2003

Notes:

2[b] and 2[c] supposedly contain two different vocal takes, one used on Apple Music and the other on Spotify. This author cannot tell the difference.

The tracks sourced from the Greatest Hits Sessions CD-R are similar to the By The Way Sessions CD-R in that they lack overdubs and final vocals. 4[a] seems to be identical to 4[b], whereas 4[c] seems to contain an aborted take at a guitar solo by John; it's unclear why they kept it.

37. Save This Lady

[a] Desecration Smile (or) Hump De Bump - CD - 2007

Notes:

The album was mastered for vinyl by Steve Hoffman. The mixes are the same across all formats except for 10[b], which has an alternate guitar solo to the CD and tape version. Oddly enough, this version seems to have been used for the web version of the album.

The Rock Band tracks being released resulted in multitrack stems being made available, much like they were for the Blood Sugar Sex Magik, Californication and I'm With You tracks.

The Instrumentals are sourced from a promo CD-R distributed to radio stations and record stores, and the Guitar & Bass Versions (which don't feature any drums) were released with tablature books in 2006.

36[a] and 37[a] were released basically simultaneously in 2007, you can pick which release you'd rather track down. Regrettably, neither of the tracks are available to stream or purchase online.

Notes:

Aside from the odd radio edit and instrumentals, the only real variation of note from these sessions is 6[e] which features the natural beginning of the song. Those few seconds can also be heard in 6[a], a trailer released for the album on Youtube, but that mix leaves off the rest of the song.

A full collection of instrumental versions of I'm With You leaked to Youtube in late 2018. Their source is unknown, but it's most likely these were created in 2011 along with the final album mixes, and were distributed for promotional reasons.

For its initial 7" vinyl release, 25[a] was edited and split across two sides. On the digital release and 25[b] it appears in full, unedited.

The Rock Band tracks being released resulted in multitrack stems being made available, much like they were for the Blood Sugar Sex Magik, Californication and Stadium Arcadium tracks.

[c] The Getaway - CD/vinyl/web - 2016

Notes:

5[d] is fairly different to the album mix, and gives the song more of a "traditional" rock sound, with beefier drums. "Dark Necessities" also had a cassette single release, but it is just the album mix.

The "Instrumental" and "TV" versions of the album leaked to the internet in 2022 and contain instrumental and semi-instrumental (some background vocals remain) unmastered versions of the final album mixes, with the odd change, such as additional background effects on Encore. Judging from their name, they seem to have been made in the intention of selling TV broadcast rights.

Notes:

7[b] is an extended version of the song that repeats the first refrain, most likely used during the mastering process by mistake. It is also present on the cassette version.

18[a] was only available on Japanese versions of the album initially, but was released on streaming services as a stand-alone single a few weeks after the album was released. They are identical.

18. The Shape I'm Takin'

[a] Return of the Dream Canteen (Japanese Version) - CD - 2022

Notes:

The instrumental version of the album leaked in October 2022, shortly after the album's release. It is probably from an internal promotional source, either digital or CD-based. A similar instrumental version of Unlimited Love most likely exists as well, but it's yet to surface.

12[c] is the regular version of the song but contains an extended synth-based coda. It's not known if this was how the original version of the track ended (unlikely), or if it's a mix created specifically for the video highlighting various elements from the multitracks (likely).

18[a] is only available on Japanese versions of the album, but will probably be released eventually on streaming services in the same way "Nerve Flip" was after Unlimited Love's release.
